Comments from the Audience:

Kate Uhlir, 2448 Fenwick Road, stated that since the Charter Review Commission (CRC) is looking at a structural change in the government, there should more extensive notification of the CRC meetings. She also suggested that a town hall meeting be held to discuss the pros and cons of a change in the form of city government. Mrs. Uhlir also suggested that a city-wide mailing go out about the town hall meeting and that the Plain Dealer and Sun Press reporters be invited to the meetings.

Susan Infeld, 3906 Tyndall Road, echoed the sentiments of Mrs. Uhlir about maintaining open communications with the residents. She also commented on Ordinance No. 2008-69, authorizing a contract with the Northeast Ohio Sourcing Office (NEO/SO) for an exception analysis study for the City. Mrs. Infeld noted that she researched efficiency studies for municipal governments and found out there are various strategies to achieve efficiencies and cost savings. One is a functional analysis, which is a process of identifying the functions performed by a city, in a systematic way, based on a standard set of criteria, such as best practices or common practices. Another would be an efficiency review, which is an evaluation of how cost effective the operation of the city is; this would help identify ways to improve cost effectiveness of the essential services provided. A third strategy would be a fee study, in which municipalities might use fees for services as a way to hold off increases on property taxes. Another is considering shared services with other governmental entities, which the City has done and continues to do. The exception analysis which NEO/SO is proposing would look at the functions performed by employees which the employees thinks adds value to the city services as well as those functions the employees think do not add value to city services. Then NEO/SO will come up with a list of priority activities which the City should continue to perform and the rational for those decisions.

Mrs. Infeld stated that the process looks like part of an outsourcing opportunity for NEO/SO and it would be an assessment rather than complete study. She was concerned about not having opinions and interview done with all stakeholders in the City, i.e. the Council, residents, John Carroll University and businesses. She was also concerned that the formal analysis of best practices is not mentioned in the proposal. Also not mentioned was a comparison of University Heights to other municipalities of similar size. Mrs. Infeld stated that her hope is that residents will be interviewed in an effort to have a more open process which will result in a better product.
Steve Bennett, 3761 Hillbrook Road, invited Council members to the Northeast Ohio City Council Association (NOCCA) Winter Forum on Thursday, December 4, 2008 at Parma City Hall Council Chambers, 6611 Ridge Road. The topic of the forum is “Now Is The Time: Advance Northeast Ohio” which addresses the region’s economic action plan. There are four (4) key priorities under the plan: 1) Business Growth & Attraction; 2) Talent Development; 3) Racial & Economic Inclusion; and 4) Government Collaboration & Efficiency. Guest speakers include: Dave Abbott, CEO Gund Foundation, Laura Steinbrink and Brad Whitehead, both of Advance Northeast Ohio.

E. Ordinance No. 2008-70 Re-Appointing Arman R. Ochoa as Director of Finance on a part-time basis

Mayor Rothschild stated that Finance Director Arman Ochoa is leaving the full-time employment of the City for another position. However, he has agreed to stay on with the City on a part-time basis until the end of Mayor Rothschild’s term.

Ordinance No. 2008-70 authorizes the re-appointment of Arman R. Ochoa as Director of Finance on a part-time basis and establishes the compensation of Director of Finance (part-time) at an amount not to exceed $50,000 annually with no fringe benefits commencing December 15, 2008 until December 31, 2009. The City will save approximately $55,493 for the term of the appointment due to a reduction in the base salary, elimination of medical coverage, elimination of employer pension contribution to Ohio Public Employees Retirement System, and other fringe benefits such as vacation leave, sick leave and paid holidays.

Councilman Sims reported that the proposal was studied by all members of Council. Mr. Sims noted that his consolation in moving toward a part-time finance director is based solely on the fact that Mr. Ochoa has done a good job for the City and because of his familiarity with the City. He added that the arrangement will give the City the opportunity to continue to accomplish its work relative to the finances of the City and allow time to identify a permanent replacement.
