Incorporate these 7 habits for a healthy heart.

Melina Aguinaga-Meza, MD
Cleveland Clinic
South Pointe Hospital

As we near the two-year anniversary of the pandemic, our lives have changed immensely. For some, these changes affected their health – especially their heart health.

“Did you know that 77% of Americans are more likely to sit throughout the day now than before the pandemic? That’s not good for your heart,” says Melina Aguinaga-Meza, MD, a cardiologist at Cleveland Clinic South Pointe Hospital.

Dr. Aguinaga-Meza recommends incorporating these habits for a healthy heart:

1. Get enough exercise.

Exercise can lower blood pressure and heart rate – meaning less stress on the heart.

2. Eat a heart-healthy diet.

Incorporate foods that are low in fat, salt and calories. Include fresh vegetables and fruits, whole grains, lean proteins and nuts.

3. Lower your blood pressure.

Chronically high blood pressure is directly linked to cardiovascular disease. Weight loss, exercise and prescription medications can help lower your blood pressure.

4. Reach a healthy weight.

Diet modification and exercise with associated weight loss can lead to a healthier heart.

5. Focus on your mental health.

There is a strong connection between our mind and our heart. Heart issues can exacerbate or worsen mental health problems, and vice versa. Reach out to your physician if you unexpectedly start to experience sadness, tiredness, fatigue, or loss of interest or pleasure in activities.

6. Manage your stress.

Stress can cause arteries to constrict, starving the heart of nourishing blood and triggering chest pain or a heart attack. Relaxation practices, such as mindfulness, yoga, meditation and tai chi are beneficial to your heart and mind.

7. Quit smoking.

Individuals who smoke are more likely to experience heart attacks than nonsmokers. Smoking cessation can have positive outcomes for your body – and especially your heart.

“Be proactive with your heart health. It’s better to get answers early so your doctor can guide you to a solution,” recommends Dr. Aguinaga-Meza.

For more information about heart health, visit ClevelandClinic.org/LoveYourHeart.

Tonsillectomy: Not just for kids.

Sanford Timen, MD
Cleveland Clinic
Beachwood Family
Health Center

Our tonsils are located at the back of the throat and serve as part of our immune system. However, removing them doesn’t increase your risk for infection.

“Tonsillectomy, or surgery to remove the tonsils, is one of the most common pediatric surgeries. It’s also performed on adults who suffer from recurring throat infections or have difficulty breathing during sleep,” says otolaryngologist Sanford Timen, MD, who treats patients at Cleveland Clinic Beachwood Family Health Center.

Typically performed on an outpatient basis under general anesthesia, complications from tonsillectomy are rare. However, the procedure and recovery can be more difficult for adults.

“In kids, the tonsils are mostly in the throat, but in adults, they’ve become recessed into tissue and are harder to access,” says Dr. Timen. “In addition, adults prone to tonsil inflammation tend to have many more years of infection than children. That can cause scarring, which makes the tonsils more difficult to remove.”

So when is it time to consider surgery? Experts say if you’re missing work for days at a time, you should have your tonsils checked. And if you get really sick a few times each year – to the point you cannot swallow and are missing several days of work each time – then surgery may make sense.

“It’s not a fun operation, and people can experience more soreness than they expected,” says Dr. Timen. “When I decide whether or not to recommend surgery, I base the decision on intensity and frequency of symptoms and their impact on daily life.”

To make an appointment with Dr. Timen or another Cleveland Clinic otolaryngologist, call 216.444.8500.

THE MICHAEL WEBER SHOW

TO BRING AMAZINGNESS
TO THE WALT
ON JUNE 16

The word is out about the University Heights Summer Concert Series. The series has been getting bigger and better over the last few years. Larger crowds have piqued the interest of popular bands. In return, popular bands have drawn even more fans from University Heights and surrounding areas.

"University Heights has a nice vibe," said Michael Weber, lead singer and guitar player of The Michael Weber Show. "The way University Heights supports the arts made me want to be a part of this."

The Michael Weber Show will open the 2022 University Heights Summer Concert Series on June 16 at Walter Stinson Community Park. The free show begins promptly at 7 p.m.

While this will be Weber's first ever concert in University Heights, residents may have seen him before from the comfort of their own living rooms. In 2018, Weber won MTV's "Amazingness" talent and variety show.

"The people I competed against were very talented, and a lot of them were the best people in their field, so it was an honor to be showcased among them," Weber said.

In addition to winning the MTV contest, Weber has performed with numerous Grammy winners and Rock Hall inductees, including Counting Crows, Nils Lofgren, and Jim Peterik.

Weber promises to bring passion and vibrance to his upcoming show at The Walt.

"My brand of high-energy rock 'n' roll is based on the idea of vibrance," Weber said. "Whether it's the clothing I'm wearing on stage or it's the music in which we're playing, it's all about energy, power, and a voracious attitude that makes people feel something. The band is very passionate in what we do, and that same passion radiates through the music and the performance."

Weber's many fans include Little Steven Van Zandt, the longtime guitar player for Bruce Springsteen & the E Street Band. Van Zandt has featured Weber on his XM Radio station, Little Steven's Underground Garage.

"In 2020, I wrote, produced, and performed on the single 'Wild Man' with The Shadows of Knight," Weber said. "Little Steven was interested in the song, so he signed us to his record label, and the song got a lot of airplay on his station."

Little Steven's listeners nearly voted the song as "Coolest Song of the Year" in the year-end listeners' poll. They came in fourth, behind a band you might have heard of. "We lost to Green Day," Weber said.

The Michael Weber Show has released two albums and two extended plays. His debut album, Speck in Time, was released when Weber was a sophomore in high school. The Hollywood E.P. was recorded at the legendary United Recording Studios in Hollywood, California, featuring Grammy winner and Rock Hall inductee musicians, Mike Mills (R.E.M.), Jay Bellerose (Elton John, Robert Plant & Alison Krauss), and Jennifer Condos (Ray Lamontagne, Stevie Nicks). Weber's live album, Live at the Palace documents a wild headlining show at the Lorain Palace Theater. Alone is collection of home recordings, written, produced, engineered, and performed by Weber.

Rounding out the lineup for The Michael Weber Show are drummer James O'Commor, keyboardist Billy Brock, and multi-instrumentalist Josh Isn't.

A music graduate from Ohio State University, O'Connor also performs with local groups The Prom Queens and Omni-tet.

Brock has been playing keyboards since he was just 8 years old. When not performing, Brock works as a stage hand, and rebuilds music gear.

Isn't keeps himself busy by writing songs, producing, and creating videos. He's an avid gamer and amateur game designer. In addition to performing with The Michael Weber Show, he is a part of local glam folk pop trio The Prom Queens.

While Weber is busy creating a name for himself, he's also working to celebrate the legacy of Cleveland music legend Michael Stanley. This summer, Weber will perform with members of the Michael Stanley Band, as well as The Resonators for a series of concerts promoted by Live Nation.

"Having grown up in the Cleveland area, it's really meaningful to play these songs with the band that made the records," Weber said. "I'm honored to have been chosen to join them on lead guitar, as well as singing Michael Stanley's vocals on a couple of songs."

2022 Summer Concert Series

Don't miss The Michael Weber Show, or any of the other great concerts on this year's schedule.

June 23 – Flannel Planet. The dream of the 90s is alive in University Heights. Flannel Planet plays tribute to the very best of 90s alternative, rock, pop, and hip hop. Their song list includes hits by The Foo Fighters, The Breeders, Will Smith, Snoop Dog, and the Red Hot Chili Peppers. The Walt will be transformed into a Mosh Pit during this high-energy, Vegas-style concert.

June 30, July 28 – University Heights Symphonic Band (at John Carroll University). Our Symphonic Band will once again perform two concerts at JCU this summer. The first, on June 30, will be the annual patriotic show. The concert on July 28 will feature classics, as well as selections from Broadway and movie soundtracks.

July 7 – Old Skool. Back by popular demand this season is Old Skool. The band takes a fresh approach to their live show, featuring hard hitting song blocks, mashups, and medleys, combined with choreographed stage moves and throwback costumes. With an ever-evolving song list, Old Skool will play tribute to the 80s and 90s golden age of hip hop, R&B, Pop, Rock, Funk, and even some classic disco if the mood is right.

July 14 – Rubix Groove. A nine-member band based in Cleveland, Rubix Groove pushes the limits of new blue funk. With a rich, full sound featuring a three-piece horn section, drums, bass, keyboards, electric guitar, and powerful lead vocals from Shannon Hogarth, Rubix Groove is a dominating force onstage, but they're also able to pull back and create delicate musical moments.

Back 2 The Future

July 21 – Back 2 The Future (Concert + Movie). We've got to go back... to the future! After a great performance at last year's Fall Fest, 80s dance band Back 2 The Future returns to The Walt for the Summer Concert Series. This time, the band will introduce new lead singer Stephanie Nemecek (a John Carroll University grad!) and drummer Michael Scott Nelson. Stick around after the concert for a free showing of the 1985 movie "Back to the Future," starring Michael J. Fox and Christopher Lloyd.

August 4 – Oregon Space Trail of Doom (Concert + Movie). Drifting on the light waves of ghost stars, these cosmic cowboys have but one intention: to create a musical score for the impending interstellar apocalypse. Exploratory rock-jazz band Oregon Space Trail of Doom will put on a show like none ever seen at The Walt. After the show, enjoy a screening the science fiction classic, "It Came from Outer Space." The double feature night will be hosted by Leopold and Lenora from WUAB's "The Big Bad B-Movie Show."

August 11 – One World Tribe. Founded by Pennsylvania's Kennedy Thompson, One World Tribe was created on the premise of bringing together musicians of various backgrounds in order to break down social and racial barriers. One World Tribe is a Musical Feast whose sensibilities delight even the most exotic taste, they are Afro-Beat, Funk, Latin and World Beat Orchestra with a myriad of musicians, dancers and extras. With members hailing from Africa, Jamaica and Puerto Rico, One World Tribe is a true Multicultural ensemble.

August 18 – Yiddishe Cup. Summer isn't over, until Yiddishe Cup says it's over. A University Heights tradition, Yiddishe Cup is a local klezmer band with a Motown twist that's been around as long as anyone can remember. You shouldn't go back to school until you've heard Yiddishe Cup's mashup of "Tradition" from "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Ball of Confusion" by The Temptations.

Have a fun summer, but stay safe from fire

The University Heights Fire Department's Fire Prevention Bureau encourages you to have a fun summer while taking best practice to be safe!

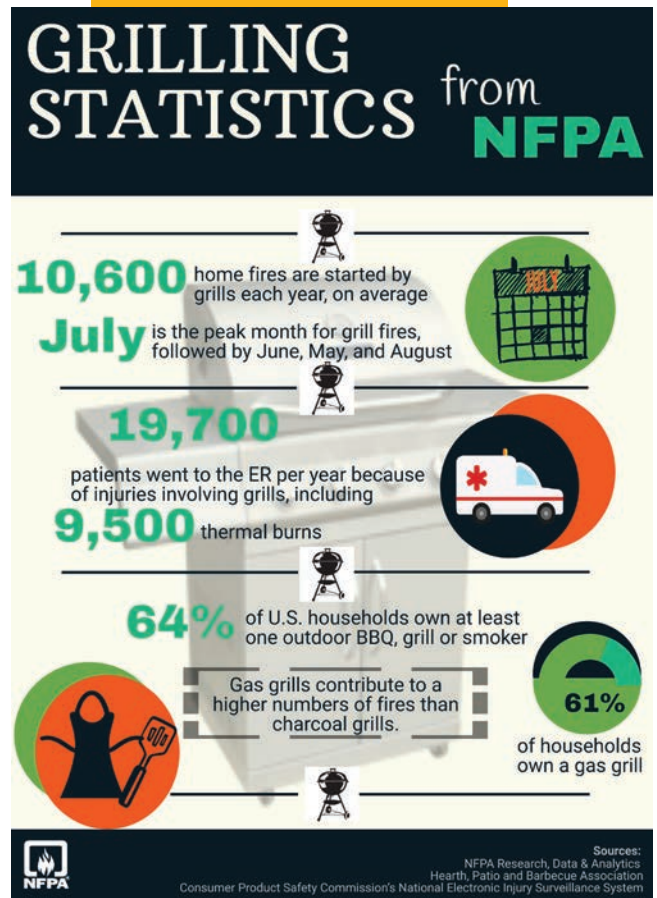

Be mindful of heat related illness. Stay hydrated and remain in cool areas when temperatures rise. Check in on those who are elderly or sick. Do not leave children or pets in unattended vehicles and limit strenuous outdoor activities. BBQ grilling accounts for over 10,000 home fires each year, on average. Ensure that safe grilling habits include checking your grill before and after each use. Keep children and pets a safe distance away. Keep the grill at least 3 feet away from any combustible materials such as your house or outdoor furniture.

Smoke detectors save lives! Schedule a free Home Safety Inspection to have a certified fire inspector check your home for hazards, give advice on home safety plans, and hang your new smoke detectors. All Home Safety Inspections will include a Community Risk Reduction safety bag with educational literature.

Community Risk Reduction

Your Fire Department has been identifying and prioritizing local risks. We are coordinating emergency operations with prevention and mitigation efforts community wide. University Heights Fire Department is offering FREE Home Safety Inspections.

An appointment for your FREE Home Safety Inspection can be made by calling the Fire Prevention Bureau at 216-321-1939. There is no charge for these services.

Practice HEAT SAFETY Wherever You Are

Heat related deaths are preventable. Protect yourself and others from the impacts of heat waves.

Job Sites

Private fireworks now banned across NE Ohio

If you are planning a party this summer, buy your burgers, your drinks, your decorations, and your corn-hole board. But do not bother buying commercial grade fireworks, as it is illegal for individuals to set them off in University Heights.

Last year, the Ohio General Assembly passed a law loosening restrictions regarding private use of fireworks. However, House Bill 172 allowed local communities to opt out. By a unanimous vote of city council, and with the support of both the police and fire chief, University Heights maintained a local ban on fireworks.

"We've got to be courteous to our neighbors," said Mayor Michael Dylan Brennan. "University Heights is the second-most densely populated city in Cuyahoga County. We're too close together to safely set off fireworks."

"We feel the ban is needed," said Vice Mayor Michele Weiss, "because of our dense population, and the effects on people who has PTSD, and animals as well."

The local ban is part of a regional effort, as other cities have instituted similar bans, including Cleveland Heights and South Euclid.

Fireworks can be very dangerous when not handled by professionals.

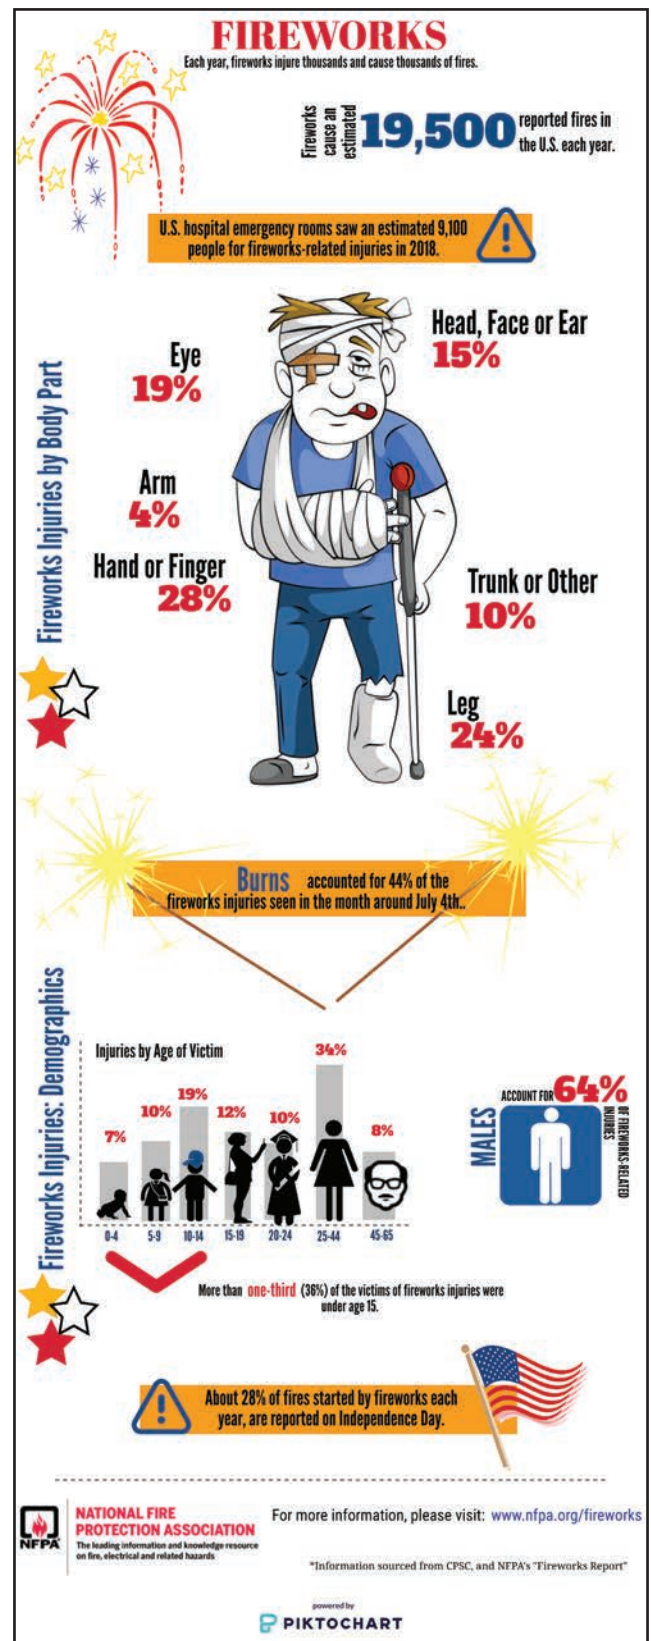

Fire Chief Robert Perko said he is happy to see North-east Ohio communities opting out of HB 172. "Fireworks can be very dangerous when not handled by professionals," he said. "It's not only a danger when residents are shooting them off, there's a risk with the storage as well."

For instance, if a resident stored fireworks in a home garage or basement, it would be unlikely to have a sprinkler system. Perko said a home fire involving fireworks "would be very unpredictable, and difficult for us to try to combat."

Police Chief Dustin Rogers said the ban is data driven. According to Rogers, the Consumer Product Safety Commission reported a 50% increase across the country in fireworks-related deaths and injuries in 2020, compared to the previous year.

The Journal of the American College of Emergency Physicians Open Report states emergency department visits for firework injuries are increasing in the United States. The majority of victims are children and young adult males, with most of the accidents happening around the Fourth of July and New Year's Eve.

In addition, a professionally run fireworks display is permitted in University Heights, such as the five-minute display last year as part of the John Carroll University homecoming celebration.

Our parade is finally back where it belongs

For the first time since 2019, the University Heights parade returns to Memorial Day

It was wiped out in 2020 due to the pandemic. The pandemic lingered into spring of 2021, so a parade was postponed to Independence Day.

But with return to normal (knock on wood), Northeast Ohio's biggest and best Memorial Day parade will return to its proper place on the calendar – Monday, May 30 at 11 a.m. The parade will travel east on Silsby Road, then head south on South Belvoir Boulevard, before ending at John Carroll University.

This year's parade will feature returning crowd favorites like stilt walkers from Pickup Stix, the rocket car and Batmobile from Euclid Beach Rocket Car, musical entertainment from the Heights High Marching Band, and many more.

After an absence of many years, the Mighty Shaw Marching Band will return for the 2022 Memorial Day parade.

At the conclusion of the parade, join us at John Carroll University for a memorial ceremony. After the ceremony, there will be fun activities for the kids, including inflatables and pony rides.

"On Memorial Day, we remember those who died in service to our country. But we also say 'thank you,' and we celebrate the freedoms they left behind for us to enjoy," said Mayor Michael Dylan Brennan. "Our parade is fun, and the ceremony that follows is solemn and moving."

University Heights celebrates Education & Sharing Day

On April 12, Mayor Michael Dylan Brennan presented a proclamation to Rabbi Yosef and Rabbi Yossi to celebrate Education & Sharing Day.

The Lubavitcher Rebbee, Rabbi Menachem Schneerson stressed the importance of education as the bedrock of humanity and the hallmark of a healthy society. For over 40 years, his birthday has been celebrated nationally as Education & Sharing Day.

Last month, Mayor Michael Dylan Brennan presented a proclamation declaring April 12, 2022 as Education & Sharing Day in University Heights. The proclamation said, in part, "together, we can nurture the unity of diverse peoples through encouraging increased acts of goodness and kindness, imbued with awareness that even a single positive act of an individual can make a major impact in this world."

Celebrate Juneteenth at The Walt

Sunday, June 19 | 1:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Inaugural Celebration to include music, poetry, and food

This summer, not only will traditional events return to University Heights, there will be a brand new celebration. The Inaugural University Heights Juneteenth Celebration will take place on Sunday, June 19 from 1:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Walter Stinson Community Park.

Juneteenth is the holiday commemorating the end of slavery by marking the day enslaved people in Texas learned they were free. Juneteenth has now finally recognized as a federal holiday. The move comes after growing support nationwide for observing the day of reflection and celebration.

And how we will celebrate in University Heights! Performers at our Juneteenth Celebration will include the All City Choir, DJ Marcus Alan Ward, local poets including Raja Belle Freeman, dancers, and a concert from Forecast. Local Black fraternities and sororities will participate. The emcee for the event will be Kierra Cotton from WKYC.

Food trucks will be on site at The Walt, including The Dawg Bowl Cajun Cuisine.

Last year after Juneteenth became a national holiday, Mayor Michael Dylan Brennan called for the establishment of a Citizens Committee to plan for an annual celebration. Geoff Englebrecht happily swerved out of his lane as the City's Director of Housing and Community Development to help organize the University Heights celebration.

"For both visitors and residents, I am hoping they are both educated and entertained during the event," Englebrecht said. "I believe the Juneteenth Celebration will help showcase the city as a great place to visit, and will give residents something they will be able to enjoy and look forward to every year." >>

The Inaugural University Heights Juneteenth Celebration will feature Kierra Cotton from WKYC as emcee, local band Forecast, and DJ Marcus Alan Ward.

» Forecast will headline the event. A quintet from Cleveland, Forecast plays a blend of jazz, funk, rock, reggae, and pop. The band has headlined across the region, and has served as the house band or the Cleveland Cavaliers and the stage band for the regional Emmy Awards.

The University Heights Juneteenth Celebration will be hosted by WKYC's Kierra Cotton. As digital reporter, Cotton shares with the 3News audience the top trending stories in entertainment during the daily segment, "Pop Break." Additionally, she also enterprises her own stories with focus on local businesses, the Black community and unique characters across Northeast Ohio.

Englebrecht and Brennan both thanked the planning committee members for making the event possible, including Dr. Alicia Sloan, Lawuana Anderson, Faye Benson, Saundra Berry, and Council Member Justin Gould.

This year, Juneteenth falls on Father's Day. Englebrecht said the overlap is perfect. "Instead of just grilling out at home, bring your dad to Juneteenth," Englebrecht said. "It's a family-friendly event that everyone will enjoy."

Last splash

Summer fun doesn't end on Labor Day. Your dogs will be invited to the pool on Tuesday, September 6 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. for the third annual Doggy Pool Party. Admission is free, but you may choose to make a voluntary donation to City Dogs of Cleveland.

Aiden the Former Intern goes to Washington

Aiden Keenan brings his JCU education, City Hall experience, and plenty of coffee to his internship at "Meet the Press."

John Carroll University senior Aiden Keenan is the 14th recipient of the 2022 NBC "Meet the Press" Fellowship.

The fellowship is exclusive to John Carroll University students and was first awarded in 2009 in honor of Tim Russert, '72, who passed away in 2008 following more than 16 years at the helm of "Meet the Press." The University's Department of Communication also bears his name.

Keenan, a Communication and Political Science double major with a minor in Peace, Justice, and Human Rights was the class president of John Carroll University's student government during the 2021-2022 academic year. Among many other accolades, he was awarded the Tim Russert Department of Communication Academic Excellence Award in 2022.

"I am honored to be selected as this year's Meet the Press Fellow and am humbled to work with the incredible team at NBC," Keenan said. "I have always loved working as part of a team to produce important shows for engaged audiences and am looking forward to being able to apply lessons that I've learned at JCU to Meet the Press. I am so excited to learn from and work with everyone at NBC and am thankful for this opportunity and the support of the JCU community over the years."

Keenan's on-campus involvement extended to The Carroll News, where he was a photo editor and staff reporter, and the speech and debate team, where he earned several awards of excellence, including second place in the 2022 Ohio State championship for impromptu speaking.

Keenan held several internships during his time at John Carroll, highlighted by positions at Capitol Partners, University Heights City Hall, and WSYR News Channel 9.

"Aiden did a great job here at City Hall," said Mayor Michael Dylan Brennan. "It was obvious from his first interview that Aiden was a young man who is going places and has a bright future in public service."

Keenan's many other activities on campus have led to equally impressive outcomes, including: Washington Media Scholars Foundation Media Fellow (November 2021), Tim Russert Department of Communication Kathryn E. Dolan Communication Memorial Scholarship (November 2021), Lambda Pi Eta Communication Honor Society Inductee (November 2021), Order of Omega Honor Society Parker F. Enright Scholarship (April 2022), and JCU Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life Fraternity Legacy Award (April 2022).

The NBC/JCU Meet the Press Fellowship is a nine-month position at "Meet the Press," the top-rated Sunday morning public affairs program and the longest-running television program in the world.

Cleveland Heights-University Heights City Schools Update

What's Happening in Your Neighborhood Schools

By Charlie Swift, CH-UH Communications Assistant

Kindergarten Registration

Registration for incoming kindergarten students is now open in the Cleveland Heights-University Heights City Schools. Visit CHUH.org/RegistrationEnrollment.aspx or scan the QR code for details on how to enroll your child. We look forward to welcoming our newest Tigers!

Heights student plays coming to Dobama Theatre stage

Several CH-UH student playwrights will see their work come to life at the 44th Annual Marilyn Bianchi Kids' Playwriting Festival. The following student plays will appear in the production:

The Haunted Forest

by Charlie Douglas, 2nd Grade, Canterbury Elementary

The Fairy Gem

by Elle Safran, 4th Grade, Fairfax Elementary

Nordic Raid

by Nicholas Hogan, 5th Grade, Gearity Professional Development School

Recognition was given to the following student submissions:

The Forest Of Life

by Grace Kluge, 4th Grade, Fairfax Elementary

The Adventures Of Cheetow

by Elom Donou-Adonsou, 4th Grade, Gearity Professional Development School

Space Enigma

by Charlotte Walker, 4th Grade, Noble Elementary

The festival performances will take place at the Dobama Theatre, June 3-5, 2022.

Teachers, community make Canterbury's book fair special

For some children, the week of their school book fair feels magical. But for others, it can be a time when their own family's tight budget renders them feeling left out. Heights High science teacher Nicole Zubik and math teacher Becky McDonald, who live in the Canterbury neighborhood, realized they could do something about it. With nothing more than a Facebook post, they collected $775 in two days from friends, family, neighbors and fellow teachers. They delivered the funds to Canterbury kindergarten teacher Lisa Stewart, who was running the book fair, who then worked with teachers to distribute the cash to children in need.

Rox Mid girls become engineers for a day

To celebrate Introduce a Girl to Engineering Day on February 24, eighth grade girls from Roxboro Middle School attended a virtual field trip through Parks College of Engineering, Aviation, and Technology at St. Louis University. Introduce a Girl to Engineering Day is a time when volunteers, educators, and others act as role models, facilitate engineering activities, and show girls how engineers change our world.

The students participated in a Zoom webinar with current college engineering students to learn about different kinds of engineers, as well as supporting hands-on activities that mimicked some of the areas of study from the college. Students collaborated to create water filters, crab robots, and "prosthetic" hands.

Board of Education reaches contract agreement with teachers union

The Cleveland Heights-University Heights Board of Education reached a contract agreement with the Cleveland Heights Teachers Union Local 795. On March 8, the Union ratified the three-year agreement through June 30, 2025, with 92% approval from the membership. The Board of Education voted unanimously to approve the tentative agreement on March 15. The current contract was set to expire June 30 of this year.

Coleman breaks record

Heights High is proud to call Ohio's fastest 400-meter runner one of their own. Senior Marius Coleman won the Division 1 400-meter dash at the Ohio Indoor Track State Championship at Spire Institute on March 4. His time of 48.58 set a new Heights indoor record. The victory topped off a successful night and season for the Heights Tigers, whose boys team finished the State Meet ranked eighth out of 68 teams from Ohio. Qualifying in five events, every Heights competitor clocked a personal best to close out the indoor season.

"To be a champion, you have to have physical ability and mental toughness," said Heights head track coach Scott McNulty. "Marius has both. He is representative of all that we already have at Heights, a validation of who we are and who we can become."
